LOBBYISTS DEFEATED IN FIGHT FOR SPEAKERSHIP

Shanks Surprises Lincoln Democrats by Voting Against McCreary's Choice.

A great victory for decency in governmental affairs was won at Frankfort Monday when the Democrats of the House of Representatives nominated Claude B. Terrell of Trimble county for Speaker. His election was assured only after one of the most bitter fights, against the combined "lobbyists" have been controlling to a large extent the sessions of the Legislature for the past several years. They had lined up solidly behind Representative Harry Schoberth of Woodford county, a splendid young man but decidedly in the wrong company. Behind him were Eli Brown and the majority of the Prison Commission, who were accused of trading penitentiary guardships for votes for Schoberth like horse jockeys swapping on a court day. Billy Hale and Lawrence Reichert who are heading the liquor lobby, Sam Shackelford, the professional lobbyist of Frankfort, representing a large number of corporations, and others who have made it more or less a business to prey upon the members of the legislature in the past, preventing legislation for the people and "inking care" of the "interests" at all times. These backers of Schoberth were all anxious to elect the Speaker and thus gain the first blood in their fight to prevent the carrying out of a number of the most important planks in the Democratic Platform. Behind Terrell, on the other hand, stood Gov. McCreary and most of the members of his administration and Gov. Beckham and men who have been leading the fight for the fulfillment of the platform pledges. They were up against terrible odds and a most successful political adversary in Eli Brown, but managed to put Terrell over a victor by a vote of 44 to 29. Wallace Brown, of Nelson, the third candidate in the race, threw most of his strength to Terrell after he saw he had no chance to win, for he was eternally opposed to the forces behind the Schoberth candidacy, and played a large part in convincing the people to the point where they demanded that the lobbyists must be jolt out of business.

One of the most disappointing things from a Lincoln county standpoint was the attitude assumed by her Representative Hon. William H. Shanks, in the race. Notwithstanding the fact that he was entirely conversant with the character of the influences behind the Schoberth candidacy, and notwithstanding the fact that Gov. McCreary personally desired the election of Terrell to make more certain the carrying out of the platform, Mr. Shanks not only voted for Schoberth, but took charge of his headquarters at Frankfort and worked in hand in glove with Billy Blair, Eli Brown and others of the lobbyists to secure his election. Mr. Shanks was put up for caucus chairman by the Schoberth forces but was beaten by Ed Young, a Terrell man by a vote of 45 to 31.

When news reached Stanford that Mr. Shanks had lined up with the Schoberth crowd, protests were heard on all sides from leading democrats who declared that if he voted for Schoberth, he would not vote the wishes of his democratic constituents. Rowan Sauley, who is campaign chairman for the democrats of Lincoln in the last election managed the fight for Shanks when he was opposed by Ed Hubbard, and during most of which time Mr. Shanks was absent in Georgia, said: "The fact that the lobbyists and Prison Commission and representatives of the corporations who have notoriously dominated other sessions of the legislature against the people's interests are for Mr. Schoberth, is enough to make the big majority of the county democrats eternally against his candidacy, and if Mr. Shanks votes for him he is not voting the sentiments of his constituents, which he was sent to Frankfort to do."

It is understood that Mr. Shanks felt he should vote for Schoberth on personal grounds because of the fact that they were members in the legislature together for two terms, and furthermore because of the fact that he believes himself badly treated by the friends of Gov. McCreary who were managing the speakership fight for Terrell. Mr.

Shanks was a candidate for Speaker himself, and it is claimed, but hopes that McCreary's friends would get behind him in the race instead of Terrell. Mr. Shanks, however, declares himself as unalterably in favor of carrying out the party's pledges as made in the platform and that he was entirely conscientious in the belief that if Schoberth was chosen Speaker, he would do the same, regardless of the harmful influences behind him.

Representatives John Farra, of Garrard, and Francis Douglas, of Boyle, who had been pledged to vote for Shanks when he was a candidate for Speaker, refused to follow him into the Schoberth camp when they saw who was behind the latter and voted for McCreary's choice, Mr. Terrell. Both of these representatives have taken prominent positions in the new legislature, and will receive important committee assignments.

His many Lincoln friends will be glad to know that Robert Dunn, the bright young son of Col. and Mrs. Ike Dunn, of Danville, was elected a page in the House.

Jesse M. Alverson, formerly of this city, received an unusual honor in being re-elected assistant clerk of the senate without opposition.

ODD FELLOWS ELECT

Stanford Lodge No. 136, I. O. O. F., elected officers for the ensuing term at the regular meeting last Tuesday night. The following officers were chosen: A prominent in the lodge work:

Noble Grand—J. A. Allen, Vice Grand—J. C. Reynolds, Secretary—W. A. Carson, Treasurer—J. C. McClary Post—J. H. Engleman.

Representative Helms, and the Democratic members of the Committee of which he is Chairman, are smiling broadly over winning "first blood" in the general democratic fight against the monumental extravagance of the republican administration of affairs in Washington. His committee on expenditures in the war department has been quietly and most effectively at work since last spring digging into the affairs of the war department, and the result of what they had found was given in two speeches in the House by Mr. Helms just before the holiday adjournment.

What Mr. Helms told the House about the annual waste in the War Department made the members of the new committee on Military Affairs, sit up and take notice. He told them that for years the wool had been pulled over the eyes of the military affairs committee, which had annually recommended, and congress had appropriated, every year, from ten to thirty million dollars more than was necessary for an economical, business support of the army.

A special from Washington to the "Innsmouth Enquirer," December 27th, stated that the military affairs committee has now decided to report an army appropriation bill carrying from seven to ten million dollars less than the last year's bill.

The Louisville Times of December 28th, also states that the saving announced as already decided upon will be principally in the abandonment of many of the large number of Army Posts, more concentration of the army in the administration of its affairs.

Mr. Helms' committee in exposing the extravagance that the department has heretofore "put over" the committee and the House, has paved the way for nearly as great savings in several other business features of the department and they are naturally gratified that their investigation of the big department is to soon bear concrete results—results that mean the saving of many millions annually to the Treasury.

Senator Aldrich stated on the floor of the Senate that three hundred millions could be saved annually by proper management of the Government's business. Mr. Helms' committee has found several large sized leaks in the war department alone, which will be stopped. It is work of this character that talks and it can be truthfully said of Mr. Helms that he is earning his salary.

MAN HELM LIVES PEOPLE'S FRIEND

As Result of His Work on War Department Committee Millions Will Be Saved This Year

One of the most delightful dances given by the young men of Stanford in some time was the annual Christmas hop given at the Opera House on the evening of the 25th. Seibert's orchestra of Louisville made the music for the occasion, and an elegant luncheon was served at 12 o'clock by Mrs. C. L. Gover, which was enjoyed to the fullest extent, and dancing was indulged in until the wee small hours. Quite a number of belles and beaux from over the Ohio Grass country were present. ## OATTS—UNDERWOOD

Dr. B. F. Underwood of Louisville and Miss Fannie H. Oatts of Rankin, were quickly married at the Phoenix Hotel in Lexington, last Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

The bride is the accomplished daughter of the late Wm. H. and S. E. Oatts, and is one of Wayne county's most charming young ladies and has many admirable traits, and who is greatly loved by all who know her.

The groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Kernell Underwood of Danville, but now a popular physician of Louisville, and is a most excellent young business man, who enjoys the confidence of all who have the pleasure of his acquaintance.

Soon after the ceremony the happy couple left for their home on Third and N Streets in Louisville. Their many friends were surprised to hear of their marriage and all wish them a long and happy wedded life.—Monticello Outlook.

FARMERS FOR WILSON.

The agricultural paper, Farm and Home, made a postal card canvass of 4,000 farmers on its list in every section of the country, and the result shows that the democrats want over Mr. Wilson of New Jersey, as their presidential candidate and the Republicans want Senator La Follette. The section tabulation by sections of the country of replies from Democratic farmers shows these preferences among Champ Clark, Governor Harmon, Governor Wilson, and the field.

Democrats—Wilson 2,196; Clark 730; Harbison—306; Scatterling 594.

Republicans—La Follette 2,960; Taft 1,902; Roosevelt—363.

THE RIVALS.

Very Cleverly Presented by Miss Jackson's School of Expression

The Rivals, a comedy in five acts by Richard Sheridan, was very cleverly presented by members of Miss Bertha Jackson's pupils from her school of expression at Walton's Opera House on Friday evening. The inclement weather caused many who had intended going to stay at home and by it they were denied the pleasure of seeing a good play well acted throughout. We think it was Joe Jefferson who made the excellent play famous, but are constrained to the belief that if these promising actors and actresses in the persons of Stanford young people will continue the work they have so well begun that soon the old play will become as popular as of yore. As Sir Anthony Absolute, Morrison Bright surprised him at the same time delighted his friends. A good voice, an easy stage appearance and general makeup made him a capital Sir Absolute, his son, who impersonated by Harris Coleman, who played the role well. Bob Acres represented by Thomas Coleman, was all that could have been asked, while Sir Lucius O'Trigger, by William McCarty, was an exceedingly creditable impersonation. John M. Waters, who promises to star before the foot lights, should he follow theatrical work, was good in both of his roles—Frankland and David, especially was he "at home" in the latter. William Grimes, as Fag, was very clever. The three ladies who took part are deserving of special mention, Miss Elizabeth Higgins, who had a very difficult part, in particular. As Mrs. Malaprop she was excellent and her constant use of "jaw-breaking" words, all in wrong places, brought forth much laughter and applause. Miss Mary K. Duddler, as Lydia Languish was very excellent. She is very graceful and was not the least troubled with stage fright. Miss Mandy Grimes, who portrayed Lucy, was as cute a little attendant to Lydia Languish as could be produced anywhere. The play was a rather heavy one for amateurs but the players mastered it and a very delightful audience left the opera house.

Both those who took part and their competent teacher are deserving of congratulations for the good work they did. It is indeed a pity that the elements behaved so badly, for it was a performance that S. E. Oatts, and is one of Wayne county's most charming young ladies and has many admirable traits, and who is greatly loved by all who know her.

EXAMINING TRIAL OF JACOB WALLIN

Nearly 100 Witnesses Summoned in Case Which Goes Over Till Today—Dying Statement

At least a hundred witnesses appeared before Conaty Judge Bailey at 10 o'clock Monday morning, having been summoned in the case of Jacob Wallin, charged with killing Eliah Hoskins at Crab Orchard on Saturday evening, Dec. 23.

Mr. Wallin is represented by Attorneys Alcorn & Alcorn, of this city, and J. Mort Rothwell, while County Attorney W. S. Rureh, and J. S. Owsley are prosecuting.

The first witness introduced was Dr. H. R. Spider, who was present when Hoskins made his dying declaration, which, in substance was as follows:

"I went into Riddle's place and told Dad Wallin I wanted to see him. Wallin asked me if I was deputy marshal and I said 'yes'. He then accused me of following them up, which was not the case. Dad then said 'If you kill one of us you will have to kill us all.' Walter Wallin passed in close to me and shot me in the left. I shot Walter Wallin and killed him, I suppose. I ran out of Riddle's place and Ernest Wallin caught hold of me. I tried to shake him off, but he held on like a leech. While struggling with Ernest, who called out 'Kill the d—s— of him.' Jacob Wallin ran up and shot me."

James Herrin stated that he was in the place of his brother-in-law, J. G. Riddle, when W. Wallin and Hoskins became engaged in a conversation, but as it was not an angry one, he paid but little attention to them and did not know who fired the first shot in the duel which resulted in Walter Wallin's death.

Joseph Riddle, who was also in J. G. Riddle's place, testified to about the same thing that James Herrin did.

Sam Magee was next called and testified substantially what Herrin and Riddle had.

Don Howard was next introduced and told of Walter Wallin firing at Hoskins, who returned the fire, killing Wallin.

Dave Edmunds testified to what had been brought out by the other witnesses.

R. T. Collier and Dick Buchanan, the latter colored, told of seeing two men struggling in the street, but as it was dark, could not tell who they were.

The first witness who not only saw and recognized the combatants in the street, which was the fight that resulted in Hoskins' death was L. M. Lasley. He said he saw Ernest Wallin and Hoskins in a terrible hand-to-hand fight near the pavement in front of Riddle's soft drink stand, and when they got nearly in the center of the street, Jacob Wallin approached the men; walking around until he got in position to shoot Hoskins without endangering the life of his nephew, Wallin then opened fire and Hoskins released his hold on Ernest Wallin and turned as if to run, Jacob Wallin firing twice as he did so. Mr. Lasley further stated that he was present when an examination of Hoskins' wounds was made, and that one bullet entered the left breast, one a little lower down on the left side, one in the upper thigh and still another in the right hip, this ball being the one that was fired as Hoskins turned around.

A young son of Hoskins took the witness stand and practically corroborated Mr. Lasley. Court then adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning, with about 50 more witnesses to be examined.

Dad Wallin brother of the dead man, who testified first on Tuesday morning, stated that there had been no quarrel between Hoskins and Walter Wallin, and that Hoskins fired the first shot. He immediately went to his brother and knew nothing of the killing of Hoskins by Jacob Wallin a few moments later.

Ernest Wallin then took the stand and told of grabbing Hoskins, who he thought had killed his father, Dad Wallin. Ernest and Hoskins struggled to the street, the former laid over his gun while beating Hoskins over the head with his pistol. Jacob Wallin then approached and shot Hoskins several times.

Jacob Wallin was on the stand when Judge J. J. Owsley asked for his plea.

"Don't forget the 'Moses' story" at the Opera House Monday, January 6th.

SOUTH FOR WILSON.

A dispatch from Atlanta, Ga., says: In the south Woodrow Wilson looms up as a presidential favorite. If the nomination were to be made to-morrow, most of the southern states would be for him as against anybody else who has been mentioned. Time is at least as likely to add to his strength as to reduce it. In fact, the more Democrats ponder upon the situation, the more they regard him as not only the most fitting candidate—the best presidential timber and the surest winner.

The personal equation—his ability, character and progressive statesmanship—cause the people of the south to take to him with uncommon cordiality. So, too, even the facts that he was born in Virginia, taught school in one of the Carolinas while his father was head of a religious institution in the other Carolina, and that Woodrow Wilson himself practiced law for a time in Atlanta. The people accept him as one of themselves in birth and, party, in environment.

The politicians, for the most part are leaning very strongly toward Wilson because they are bent upon carrying the next presidential election they believe that if he were the nominee he would be almost certain to lead the party to success. These men, cold-blooded and calculating as they were, would be against Wilson if they deemed somebody else stronger—hence the fact that they are favorable to New Jersey's Governor is exceedingly significant.

Confidential talks with editors of great Democratic papers in the south—editors who range from Progressive to Tory—show the marked tendency of southern hearts and southern minds toward Wilson. Progressive Democratic editors are for him because they consider his progressiveness beyond doubt. Tory Democratic editors, on the other hand, view him with favor in spite of his progressiveness—purely because of his prestige and popularity.

If the judgment of these journalistic politicians is anything like reliable, then Woodrow Wilson is quite sure of the delegations from Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia, Florida and Tennessee; he is likely to get Mississippi and Kentucky. Alabama, which may have a favorite son in the person of Congressman Underwood, is expected to be for Wilson on second choice, and may be for him on first choice. Louisiana, which, strange to say, is controlled by "Democrats" who vote for protective tariff duties, is doubtful.

Of course some of the southern states may line up for Harmon, but at present Wilson seems to be reasonably sure of getting the most of them, and he is likely to be the choice of all or nearly all of the rest of them.

BIG XMAS DINNER.

BRODHEAD "LIVE WIRE."

J. Thomas Cherry To Locate At Crab Orchard And Open Store.

Everyone in Lincoln county and especially in the East End will rejoice to learn that Brockhead is to lose one of her "live wires" to Lincoln in the person of Mr. J. Thomas Cherry, of Brockhead who is making preparations to move early in the new year to make his home at Crab Orchard. Mr. Cherry has engaged a store room there and will open up with an extensive stock of goods. For some time Mr. Cherry contemplated coming to Stanford, and much regret has been expressed that he did not, for any community needs such hustling and progressive business men as he, and he would be quite an acquisition to this city. Mr. Cherry, however, had purchased a nice piece of property in Crab Orchard, and decided to locate there where he will have the advantage of being close to his host of friends over the Rockcastle line.

The Mt. Vernon Signal says of his leaving Brockhead:

J. Thos. Cherry is closing out his stock of goods at Brockhead Ky., preparatory to moving to Crab Orchard soon after the first of the year, where he will re-engage in the mercantile business. We regret to know that Mr. Cherry is going to leave the county and the loss of such a man, means much not only to his immediate community but to the entire county as well. Our sister town, of Crab Orchard is certainly fortunate to be able to acquire such a splendid business man and high toned gentleman as one of her citizens.

IMMEDIATE EFFECT

OF GREAT KIDNEY REMEDY IS SOON REALIZED.

According to my experience I do not consider there is anything to equal Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root for kidney affection. Twice it relieved me when I was completely helpless. The last time I was traveling in Texas when my kidneys became affected, and for ten days I suffered excruciating pain, accompanied with severe chills. Several years previous having been relieved of a similar attack, I naturally sought relief as before, from Swamp-Root.

After using four of the large size bottles, I was completely restored and went on my way rejoicing and praising Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. This was three years ago and I have had no indication of the return of the affliction.

Yours very truly,

KANSAS FARMERS WANT WIVES

Ulysses, Kan., December 30.—Senility of marriageable young women in Grant county, 35 miles from a railroad has caused all of the young bachelors of the county to form a society which will seriously engage in the business of wife getting for its members. When the plans of the society have been carried out it is hoped that Grant county will cease to be a matrimonial Sahara. Thirty-five good looking young men, all of them well fixed and able to support wives, have organized the Grant County Bachelor's Club for the purpose of getting into correspondence with eligible young women "object matrimony."

A part of the program of the Club in getting suitable mates for its members is the issuance of a catalogue containing the photographs and the complete descriptions of each of the bachelors, giving in detail particulars of meaning property and all qualifications. Those are to be sent over the country and women who are complimentary matrimony are to be corresponded and to communicate with the members of the club.

FOR TELLING THE TRUTH.

St. Peter (to applicant)—"What was your occupation on earth?"

Applicant—"Editor of a newspaper."

St. Peter—"Big circulation of course?"

Applicant—"No, small; smallest in the country."

St. Peter—"Pick out your harp."

Indeed, when the Bach Club entertains, the realization is always equal to the anticipation. While the judges were examining the papers, the guests were served delicious refreshments decorated in the Club colors, yellow and white. The papers were all good but the first prize was awarded to Miss Katherine Arnold and Mr. Thos. Bright. The second prize to Miss Effie Baughman and Mr. Harry Reinhart.
